When I received the invitation to write this article for this medical journal, I was wondering what topic I could write that could be important these days.

Then I thought of a scene that I experienced this week (on May 2022), that moved me a lot and that is in people's daily lives, and that I will base myself on to write this article.

It was one afternoon, almost the end of work on a Friday, a patient came into my room and told me that he had pain in his ankle for a few days and that he had not gone to the orthopedist because he had taken anti-inflammatories the other time and did not improve his condition when he had presented a similar picture. He had told me that he was going through a lot of stress at work and in his personal life because his mother had just died, suddenly, without a known cause, as she had not had a chronic disease until then, despite being over 70 years old. I asked what had happened to her and he told me that she was having a cough and a flu-like condition, an expectorant and symptomatic syrup was prescribed, and after a few minutes of taking the medication, she had died by her side, in front of him, without being able to help her [1].

I understood perfectly what he was telling me because for a long time I have been realizing that any medication that is currently highly concentrated can cause serious damage in our population, world-wide speaking, because the energy pattern of the human being has changed from a few years ago, mainly due to the strong and constant influences of the electromagnetic waves that we are constantly suffering in our daily lives, especially with the implementation of 5G [2].

This change in the energy pattern of the population that I am attending here in Brazil has been noticed by me since 2015 because since 2010 I have been measuring the energy of the five massive internal organs (Liver, Heart, Spleen, Lung and Kidney) according to the teachings of traditional Chinese medicine, that most of them (more than 90% of all patients are without energy in the internal organs). This data was published in an article wrote by myself entitled Energy Alterations and Chakras' Energy Deficiencies and Propensity to SARS-CoV-2 Infection [2].

The significance of this finding for us who are doctors can be disastrous, because changes in the pattern of prescription of medicines will have to be made, because this type of human being, living in the lower limit of their energy, will not be able to use any type of medicine, because the medicines themselves used to treat their pathologies may cause more damage to their internal energy than they treat, and thus, they may worsen the condition of the patient who is using it, or even lead to a fatal condition, as happened with this condition reported above [3].

This is not all I am talking about, but as early as 1888, it was described by two German scientists that the use of highly concentrated drugs makes the patient's vital energy fall and the use of highly diluted drugs raises people's energy, and therefore, they are the type of medication of choice to be used these days. This has already been described by me in some publications, such as in the article written by myself (2021) entitled "Why is Homeopathy the Medication of Choice in the Treatment of All Kinds of Diseases Nowadays?" [3].

In my travels to the United States, where my family lives, I would always go to the supermarkets with my sister and they would come across a variety of pain relievers and vitamins for consumers to use without any medical prescription. This practice can be very dangerous nowadays, due to the energy patterns that almost the entire world population is going through, due to the strong influences that electromagnetic waves have had on our health, making medicines used to treat our patients in the past, can be powerful weapons to cause more health problems than they currently treat and all this I have been talking about has already been discussed in several articles I have written on various subjects in the medical field, in the treatment of various infectious diseases or not [4-7].

Not only the medicines but the vaccines used to prevent diseases must be different from those used in the past, due to this new energy standard that our patients, from babies, children, teenagers, young adults and the elderly, are all in the same pattern, regardless of the diagnosis they present and all are considered immunosuppressed and not immunocompetent, as I am demonstrating in the article written by myself (2021) entitled Are We Vaccinating Immunocompetent or Immunocompromised People for COVID 19? [8].

From patients with simple flu or sinusitis, or with some condition of depression or anxiety, or even diabetics or autoimmune disease or even terminal patients with any type of cancer have in common, this lack of internal energy, therefore, a change in the pattern of medication prescription must be urgently re-evaluated by all doctors who are working in the treatment of our patients, because any use of highly concentrated medication can have fatal evolution nowadays, according to the Arndt-Schultz Law [3].

Therefore, highly diluted drugs should be routinely used by our doctors today, in order to cause less damage to our patients' internal energy system and cause an overall improvement, as our energy means our immunity. A theory written by me and published in 2020 whose title is Constitutional Homeopathy of the Five Elements Based on Traditional Chinese Medicine is of paramount importance these days, because the doctor manages to restore the patient's energy that is lacking using a Western homeopathic medicine, with low financial cost and accessible to all patients. This scheme, composed of 5 homeopathic medicines, has the function of giving energy to the five massive internal organs, as each organ is responsible for an internal energy function to keep the Blood circulating in our body [9-11].

The numerous cases of thrombosis that we are experiencing today is due to the fact that many patients are in this state without energy, but are not diagnosed as such, because modern medicine only studies the part of the body after it has materialized, but the energy part it was forgotten in the past, because it was considered "unscientific" by doctors at the time, since the implementation of the Flexner report in 1910, where all medical schools in the United States and Canada had their curricula changed. With this, great progress in the area of research was implemented, but on the other hand, the human being was cut in half and all the energy that makes up the formation of health and disease was left in the background and not taught in current medical schools [12].

In the article written recently by myself entitled "What Do We Need to Know to Prevent and Control Nosocomial Infections Completely? - Part 2", I am saying that not only antibiotics is increasing the hospital infection but all kinds of highly concentrated medications could reduce the vital energy and can lead to increase hospital infection. I am demonstrating through this article, the necessity of using more highly diluted medications to improve the vital energy of our population that is admitted in the hospital, as the hospital in Tuscan in Italy, where they use only homeopathy and acupuncture to treat their patient nowadays [12].

According to Albert Einstein (1879-1955) all the things is made by energy. Therefore, to conclude this article, due to these changes mentioned above, highly concentrated drugs must be prescribed in a controlled way, because any drug nowadays, regardless of type, whether anti-inflammatory, antibiotics, analgesics, antihypertensive, anti-hypoglycemic, psychotropic, for cancer treatment, sleep inducer, etc. anyone can induce the reduction of vital energy and worsen the patient's condition and even be fatal, as showed in case reported at the beginning of this short communication article [4-11].
